All but 2 Confident of Winning Poll

Southeastern Ohio's Congress Race Also Commanding Interest

COLUMBUS (AP)—Two Republican and seven Democratic candidates for governor are lined up for Ohio's primary election Tuesday. All but two are oozing confidence.

The two exceptions are Charles P. Taft, standby candidate for the Republican nomination, and Mrs. Vivienne Suarez, mother of five, who is bidding for the Democratic nomination.

Says Mrs. Suarez: "I haven't found a soul who will bet a cup of coffee on the Democratic race." Taft, the 1952 GOP gubernatorial nominee, insists he has been in the Republican race all along only on the off-chance that the health of GOP first-term Gov. C. William O'Neill might force him to abandon the race for renomination.

Playing his self-imposed role to the hilt, Taft failed to make an eleventh-hour forecast of his own nomination.

BUT OVER on the other side, with the exception of Mrs. Suarez, the half-dozen male candidates for the Democratic nomination issued confident last-minute statements.

The six are: Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze of Cleveland; former Mayor Michael V. DiSalle of Toledo; former Supreme Court Judge Robert N. Gorman; Youngstown political writer Clingan Jackson; Cuyahoga County Engineer Albert S. Porter, and Columbus Mayor Maynard E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner.

The two gubernatorial races are stealing almost all the primary election thunder.

But, in the last week or 10 days, there has been increasing interest in several congressional nomination races.

Southern Ohio has been buzzing about the on-again-off-again candidacy of Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins, Ironton Republican who has served in Congress the last 34 years. Now ill in Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital, Jenkins announced his retirement late in April, apparently leaving the field for the GOP 10th district nomination to Homer Abele, former state representative from McArthur, and Mayor John Weis of Lancaster.

But since state Sen. Oakley C. Collins of Ironton has been widely considered "their apparent" to Jenkins' congressional seat for years, a move developed last week to keep Jenkins in the race. Because of his late decision to retire, his name will be on the ballot, whether or not he is actually a candidate.

ABELE and WEIS are relying on Jenkins' initial statement that he is not a candidate.

Both Abele and Weis made their views known Sunday night. Jenkins announced in telegrams to 10th District GOP county chairmen April 25 that he had asked voters in the district not to vote for him in Tuesday's primary. The telegrams expressed the feeling that ill health would prevent Jenkins from carrying on an aggressive campaign.

Western Envoys Get New Red Note Regarding Proposed Summit Parley

MOSCOW (AP)—Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko delivered to ambassadors of the three Western powers today a new communication which diplomatic sources said left the formal opening of pre-summit talks still to be negotiated.

He summoned the French, American and British ambassadors and handed them the Kremlin's reply to the West's note of Saturday. This rejected participation of Czechoslovakia and Poland in discussions on a diplomatic level and agreed that Western envoys would meet individually with Gromyko.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, who followed France's Ambassador Maurice Dejean to the Foreign Ministry, spent exactly 30 minutes inside. He said as he emerged that the situation was not changed and that he would leave as planned Tuesday for a Paris Conference of American envoys in Western Europe.

Diplomatic sources speculated that the new Soviet note acknowledged Western agreement on individual meetings as opposed to a round table session. They also speculated that the note again presented the Kremlin's preference that the envoys discuss the time and place of a foreign ministers' pre-summit meeting only rather than consider an agenda for such a meeting.

The Western envoys will meet together later to compare notes and map further strategy.

The U. S. rejection of Poland's Rapacki plan decisively cut out of any summit negotiations today one of the proposals the Soviet Union has been pushing.

A note to the Communist government at Warsaw, released by the State Department, made formal and final Washington's opposition to creation of a central European zone from which nuclear weapons would be banned.

Such a step would block the arming of West Germany with such weapons, and bar them also from Western defense forces stationed there.

At the same time, the United States renewed its proposal for "open skies" inspection of a much larger zone including much of Europe.

The limited zone, proposed by Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki, would embrace West Germany and Communist East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The note which Ambassador Jacob D. Beam handed to Deputy Foreign Minister Winiewicz in Warsaw Saturday made U. S. policy absolute and final: Western forces in Germany must be armed with nuclear weapons in order to stand opposite "the numerically greater mass of Soviet troops stationed within easy distance of Western Europe which are being equipped with the most modern and destructive weapons, including missiles of all kinds."

The United States with special politeness expressed appreciation for Poland's initiative in seeking a solution to the problems of tension in Europe.

NATO Envoys Cautious on Summit Parley

Earlier Enthusiasm Fades at Conference Held in Denmark

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak said today the 15-nation North Atlantic Alliance would present a solidly united front if an East-West summit conference materializes. But conviction grew here that there would be no top-level parley this year.

Spaak opened the three-day foreign ministers' meeting in Copenhagen's Christiansborg Palace with a warning against Soviet political, economic and psychological moves designed to weaken Western unity.

Similar cautions were issued by Luxembourg's Joseph Bech, chairman of the NATO Council, and Danish Prime Minister H. C. Hansen, host to the conference.

Hansen said NATO would fail in its responsibilities if it did not explore all the possibilities of bringing about a relaxation of present international tension.

Delegates could see only a lengthening road to a meeting of government heads as they talked over the Soviet veto in the U.N. Security Council of the U.S. Arctic aerial inspection plan and the Kremlin's insistence that it hold preparatory summit talks individually with the Big Three.

THE ATMOSPHERE contrasted sharply with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's own top-level meeting in Paris last December, when European delegates urged an approach to the Soviet for a summit conference on problems menacing world peace.

While the desire for settlement remains alive, the sense of urgency appeared to have been replaced by one of caution.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said today that the summit conference on problems menacing world peace.

News in Brief

Transit Strike Plagues British

LONDON (AP)—More than a million Britons footlogged, cycled or hitchhiked to work in London today.

Some 50,000 men and women bus drivers in the 2,000-square-mile greater London area stopped work at midnight Sunday. They are demanding an increase of 10 shillings 6 pence—$1.47 a week. Average weekly pay is $28 to $30.80. Union leader Frank Cousins said it might be a long and bitter struggle.

The entire government-run fleet of 8,400 vehicles was idle.

Subway and surface trains brought hundreds or thousands of office and factory workers to London terminals—But from there they were on their own.

SEOUL (AP)—President Syngman Rhee's Liberals have retained control of South Korea's National Assembly but with much less than the two-thirds majority they hoped for.

With only four races undecided after the national election Friday, the Liberals had won 123 places in the 233-seat Legislature. This was only 6 more than the 117 required for control and far short of the 156 (two thirds) they needed to block Vice President Chang Myun's right to succession in case of Rhee's death.

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda marked today the 140th anniversary of Karl Marx's birth by proclaiming that Marxism is the "victorious banner of the epoch."

More than 33 million people belong to the communist party in 75 countries around the world, the communist party paper Pravda said, compared to 300 members of the party 110 years ago.

Youthful Nebraska Killer Takes Blame for 9 Deaths

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Sawed-off Charles Starkweather, 19, after his capture three months ago, inscribed a note on a jail cell wall in which he took the blame for nine killings but attributed two to his 14-year-old girl friend, Caril Ann Fugate, his attorneys disclosed today.

Starkweather, a 5-foot-5-inch red-head who once acknowledged he always wanted to be a criminal, went on trial in Lancaster District Court today for murder in one of a group of late-January killings.

Before selection of the jury began, Starkweather's attorneys changed his plea to innocent by reason of insanity. Starkweather had originally pleaded innocent.

Selection of a jury was expected to take three days or more.

Court-appointed defense attorney

neys said Starkweather's note was scrawled on the wall of the cell at the Scottsbluff County Jail in Gering, Neb. Starkweather was lodged there during an overnight stop while being returned to Lincoln after he and Caril had been captured near Douglas, Wyo., Jan. 29.

According to the attorneys, the note read:

"CARIL is the one who said to go to Washington state. By the time anybody will read this I will be dead for all the killings, then they cannot give Caril the chair to."

"From Lincoln, Neb., they got us Jan. 19, 1958."

"1958, killed 11 persons."

"Charles kill 9, all men. Caril kill 2, all girls."

"They have so many cops and people watching us leave I can't add all of them up."

The reference to Jan. 19 was not clear, and the count of nine "men" and two "girls" victims was faulty. Of 11 victims in whose slayings Starkweather has admitted involvement, 6 were male and 5 were female.

Conviction would bring a sentence of life imprisonment or death in the electric chair. The jury sets the penalty under Nebraska law.

Others hurt are Thomas Brown, 15, of 130 W. Mill St.; Henry Johnston Jr., 20, 422 S. Washington St., and Thomas Smith, 19, S. Washington St.

Ohio AFL-CIO Merger Seen Coming Soon

CLEVELAND (AP)—Phil Hannah, veteran AFL leader, says organized opposition to the merger of state AFL and CIO groups will vanish when the issue comes up at the AFL state convention today.

Opposition flared into the open Sunday as representatives of the Ohio State Building and Construction Trades Council voted to oppose the merger.

Hannah, slated to become executive vice president of the Ohio AFL-CIO when the merger is effected, attacked John E. Breidenbach, president of the building trades group, saying he is "completely out of step with the rest of the labor movement."

Declaring that Breidenbach "personally is of little moment," Hannah added:

"My understanding is that the building trades will go along with us on the convention floor and that any opposition will be completely dissipated."

No opposition to merger is expected at the state CIO convention, being held simultaneously in Public Music Hall.

Louisiana Braced For Coming Flood

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—A major flood is expected along the Red River from Shreveport to Alexandria within 10 days.

Lt. Gov. Lethor Frazier Sunday called on the National Guard, civil defense and all state agencies to prepare for an emergency.

Frazier, acting governor while Gov. Earl Long was out of the state, said, "This may be a bad one."

Already there were scattered reports of floodwaters lapping at the tops of levees. Scores of roads and some farmland was under water from heavy rainfall, and levee breaks would endanger residents and livestock.

THOMAS BROWN, a Herald paper carrier, was struck by a car operated by Mrs. Irma Stevenson, 127 W. Union St. City police reported that Mrs. Stevenson's car was headed north in an alley between W. Union and W. Mill Sts. and young Brown was riding his bicycle headed east in another alley.

He suffered a cut on the right thigh and abrasions on the right knee. He was taken to Berger Hospital for treatment.

Both Johnston and Smith suffered bumps on the head when Johnston's car went out of control on the Kingston Pike, about 4:45 a. m. Sunday. Johnston said he lost control. The car went off the road and overturned. The accident happened about a half-mile north of Pickaway Twp. School.

There were reports the caves and related terminal facilities above ground would cost $20 million.

Lions Launch Lamp Drive Wednesday

Annual Circleville Lions Club light bulb sale will open Wednesday evening, it was announced today.

The 25 members of the local Lions Club will make house-to-house calls throughout the city and other calls in the county to sell electric lamps.

The proceeds from the sale of the lamps will go to the local Lions' sight-saving fund. The group hopes to raise about $500-$600 in the week-long drive.

Donald Meyers, president of the Lions Club, said today that the lamps, all General Electric, will be sold at the same price as they are sold in stores. However, the Lions Club will use the profits to help needy persons purchase glasses, obtain eye examinations and even finance operations where necessary.

Ike Asks 2-Star Rank For General Zwicker

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked the Senate to bestow permanent two-star rank on Maj. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, once characterized by the late Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), as unfit to wear the uniform.

Zwicker now commands the 20th Reserve corps at Ft. Hayes, Ohio. Zwicker was commanding Camp Kilmer, N. J., in 1953 and 1954 when he aroused the ire of McCarthy, then investigating what he called Communist infiltration of the Army.

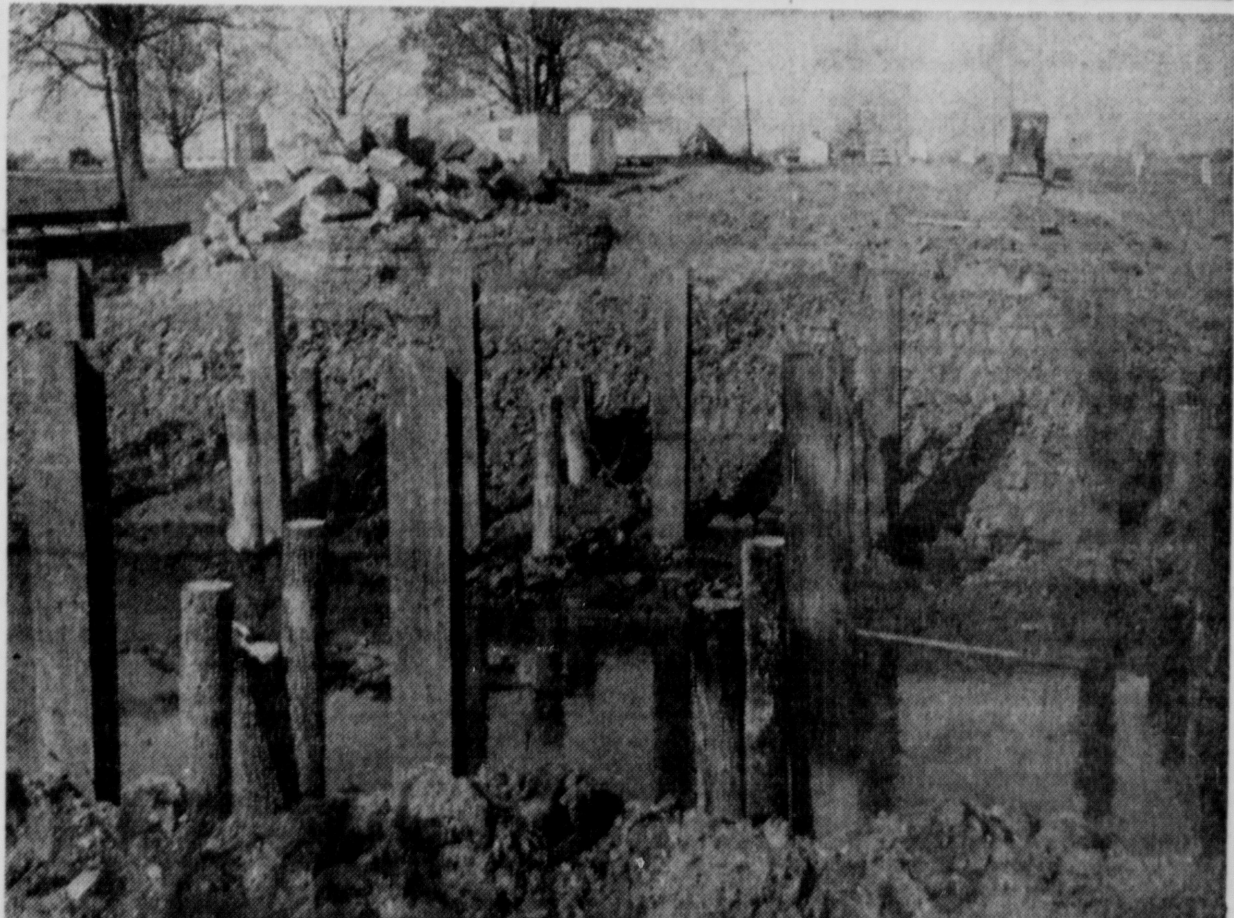

Xenia Slaying Case Is Given to Jury

XENIA (AP)—Albert Shaw, 48, was bound over to the grand jury today on a charge of first-degree murder in the death of his 83-year-old father.

The father, Edward Shaw, was found beaten to death in his home at nearby Spring Valley April 28. Prosecutor John C. Peterson today asked that Shaw be sent to Lima State Hospital for observation. Shaw recently was released from the Veterans Administration Hospital in Chillicothe where he had been a mental patient.

Southeastern Ohio's Congress Race Also Commanding Interest

COLUMBUS—Two Republican and seven Democratic candidates for governor are lined up for Ohio's primary election Tuesday. All but two are oozing confidence.

The two exceptions are Charles P. Taft, standby candidate for the Republican nomination, and Mrs. Vivienne Suarez, mother of five, who is bidding for the Democratic nomination.

Says Mrs. Suarez: "I haven't found a soul who will bet a cup of coffee on the Democratic race."

Taft, the 1952 GOP gubernatorial nominee, insists he has been in the Republican race all along only on the off-chance that the health of GOP first-term Gov. C. William O'Neill might force him to abandon the race for renomination.

Because of his late decision to retire, his name will be on the ballot, whether or not he is actually a candidate.

ABELE AND WEIS are relying on Jenkins' initial statement that he is not a candidate.

Both Abele and Weis made their views known Sunday night. The telegrams expressed the feeling that ill health would prevent Jenkins from carrying on an aggressive campaign.

Subsequent letters to Ellis Markin of Ironton, chairman of the Jenkins for Congress Committee, reported that the Congressman might change his mind. The letters were sent by Mrs. Jenkins and the congressman's executive secretary.

Both Abele and Weis, however, said they will hold to Jenkins' initial statement that he will not seek reelection.

Shangri-la Found On Final Voyage

GLOUCESTER, Mass.—Capt. Irving Johnson, who chose the sea over a farm life in South Hadley, has just completed his seventh and last sailing trip.

The trip was highlighted by discovery of what Johnson termed a veritable Shangri-la.

The 53-year-old skipper said the Shangri-la he and the crew discovered was a spot in the Marquesas Islands. He described it as "the cutest valley you ever saw protected by sheer solid rock which made the harbor dangerous and discouraging to enter."

There was no sign of a recession in the South Sea Islands, he reported, "except where a guy is too lazy to tend his gardens."

Louisiana Braced For Coming Flood

BATON ROUGE, La.—A major flood is expected along the Red River from Shreveport to Alexandria within 10 days.

Lt. Gov. Letha Frazier Sunday called on the National Guard, civil defense and all state agencies to prepare for an emergency.

Frazier, acting governor while Gov. Earl Long was out of the state, said, "This may be a bad one."

Already there were scattered reports of floodwaters lapping at the tops of levees. Scores of roads and some levees was under water from heavy rainfall, and levee breaks would endanger residents and livestock.

Texas Eastern Plans Underground Storage

MIDDLETOWN—The Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. has started digging huge caverns near here for the storing of liquefied petroleum gas.

The first cave will hold 12 million gallons of the liquefied gas and the company has sufficient land on an 89-acre tract south of here to dig nine tanks.

There were reports the caves and related terminal facilities above ground would cost $20 million.

NATO Envoys Cautious on Summit Parley

Earlier Enthusiasm Fades at Conference Held in Denmark

COPENHAGEN, Denmark—NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak said today the 15-nation North Atlantic Alliance would present a solidly united front if an East-West summit conference materializes. But conviction grew here that there would be no top-level parley this year.

Spaak opened the three-day foreign ministers' meeting in Copenhagen's Christiansborg Palace with a warning against Soviet political, economic and psychological moves designed to weaken Western unity.

Similar cautions were issued by Luxembourg's Joseph Bech, chairman of the NATO Council, and Danish Prime Minister H. C. Hansen, host to the conference.

Hansen said NATO would fail in its responsibilities if it did not explore all the possibilities of bringing about a relaxation of present international tension.

Delegates could see only a lengthening road to a meeting of government heads as they talked over the Soviet veto in the U.N. Security Council of the U.S. arctic aerial inspection plan and the Kremlin's insistence that it hold preparatory summit talks individually with the Big Three.

While the desire for settlement remains alive, the sense of urgency appeared to have been replaced by one of caution.

Shangri-la Found On Final Voyage

GLOUCESTER, Mass.—Capt. Irving Johnson, who chose the sea over a farm life in South Hadley, has just completed his seventh and last sailing trip.

The trip was highlighted by discovery of what Johnson termed a veritable Shangri-la.

The 53-year-old skipper said the Shangri-la he and the crew discovered was a spot in the Marquesas Islands. He described it as "the cutest valley you ever saw protected by sheer solid rock which made the harbor dangerous and discouraging to enter."

There was no sign of a recession in the South Sea Islands, he reported, "except where a guy is too lazy to tend his gardens."

Ohio AFL-CIO Merger Seen Coming Soon

CLEVELAND—Phil Hannah, veteran AFL leader, says organized opposition to the merger of state AFL and CIO groups will vanish when the issue comes up at the AFL state convention today.

Opposition flared into the open Sunday as representatives of the Ohio State Building and Construction Trades Council voted to oppose the merger.

Hannah, slated to become executive vice president of the Ohio AFL-CIO when the merger is effected, attacked John E. Breidenbach, president of the building trades group, saying he is "completely out of step with the rest of the labor movement."

Declaring that Breidenbach "personally is of little moment," Hannah added:

"My understanding is that the building trades will go along with us on the convention floor and that any opposition will be completely dissipated."

No opposition to merger is expected at the state CIO convention, being held simultaneously in Public Music Hall.

Youthful Nebraska Killer Takes Blame for 9 Deaths

LINCOLN, Neb.—Sawed-off Charles Starkweather, 19, after his capture three months ago, inscribed a note on a jail cell wall in which he took the blame for nine killings but attributed two to his 14-year-old girl friend, Caril Ann Fugate, his attorneys disclosed today.

Starkweather, a 5-foot-5 red-head who once acknowledged he always wanted to be a criminal, went on trial in Lancaster District Court today for murder in one of a group of late-January killings.

Before selection of the jury began, Starkweather's attorneys changed his plea to innocent by reason of insanity. Starkweather had originally pleaded innocent.

Selection of a jury was expected to take three days or more.

Court-appointed defense attorneys said Starkweather's note was scrawled on the wall of the cell at the Scottsbluff County Jail in Gering, Neb. Starkweather was lodged there during an overnight stop while being returned to Lincoln after he and Caril had been captured near Douglas, Wyo., Jan. 29.

According to the attorneys, the note read:

"CARIL IS the one who said to go to Washington state. By the time anybody will read this I will be dead for all the killings, then they cannot give Caril the chair to."

"From Lincoln, Neb., they got us Jan. 19, 1958."

"1958, killed 11 persons."

"Charles kill 9, all men. Caril kill 2, all girls."

"They have so many cops and people watching us leave I can't add all of them up."

The reference to Jan. 19 was not clear, and the count of nine "men" and two "girls" victims was faulty. Of 11 victims in whose slayings Starkweather has admitted involvement, 6 were male and 5 were female.

Conviction would bring a sentence of life imprisonment or death in the electric chair. The jury sets the penalty under Nebraska law.

Four Injured In Traffic Mishaps Here

Four persons were hurt in Pickaway County traffic mishaps during the weekend.

Most seriously injured is Philip Neff, 21, Route 1, Orient, who is reported in fair condition in Mercy Hospital, Columbus.

Others hurt are Thomas Brown, 15, of 139 W. Mill St.; Henry Johnston Jr., 20, 422 S. Washington St.; and Thomas Smith, 19, S. Washington St.

Neff was hurt at 8 a. m. Sunday. Sheriff's deputies reported that Neff fell asleep while driving his car south on the Circleville-London Northern Road, about a mile north of Darbyville.

His car swerved off the highway and hit a concrete bridge abutment, about a mile from his home. He was taken to Mercy Hospital by his parents who were called to the scene. He suffered chest injuries and abrasions of the face and thumb.

Both Johnston and Smith suffered bumps on the head when Johnston's car went out of control on the Kingston Pike, about 4:45 a. m. Sunday. Johnston said he lost control. The car went off the road and overturned. The accident happened about a half-mile north of Pickaway Twp. School.

Lions Launch Lamp Drive Wednesday

Annual Circleville Lions Club light bulb sale will open Wednesday evening, it was announced today.

The 25 members of the local Lions Club will make house-to-house calls throughout the city and other calls in the county to sell electric lamps.

The proceeds from the sale of the lamps will go to the local Lions' sight-saving fund. The group hopes to raise about $500-$600 in the week-long drive.

Donald Meyers, president of the Lions Club, said today that the lamps, all General Electric, will be sold at the same price as they are sold in stores. However, the Lions Club will use the profits to help needy persons purchase glasses, obtain eye examinations and even finance operations where necessary.

Chairman of the light bulb sale is Richard Wilson. He asked Circleville residents to turn on their porch lights Wednesday to indicate support of the light bulb sale.

U.S. Recession Hikes World's Gold Interest

$730 Million Taken
From American Hoard
Since First of Year

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—There's nothing like a recession in the United States to pep up world interest in gold.

The central banks of other nations have taken about 730 million dollars worth of the U.S. hoard of the metal since the first of the year.

Gold stocks on the New York stock exchanges, and especially on those in London and South Africa have had a flurry of buying.

And the perennial plea that the U.S. raise the price of gold has taken on new life, even if the experts see it as a forlorn hope.

There are other reasons than the business slump for the Europeans turning in dollars for gold. Among them: Better balances in world trade, worry over the Middle East as a breeding place for war, the U.S. easy money policy that raises the prices of U.S. Treasury issues while lowering their yield, and the fear that Washington might adopt anti-recession measures that would rekindle inflation and make the dollar's purchasing power still weaker.

There isn't any real run on Fort Knox. Its gold hoard rose by 832 million dollars last year. That's more than it has dropped this year, and the total is still nearly 22 billion dollars. This is ample to back the U.S. dollar with billions to spare.

But the recession and the prospects of big treasury deficits make gold look more alluring to other governments and to individuals abroad who can buy and hoard it—Americans can't.

U.S. law permits foreign central banks to buy gold from the Treasury but forbids American citizens to buy or hold it. In many lands foreigners can buy gold on the free or black market and hoard it.

And the slump with its threat of inflationary aftermaths adds talking points for those who would like to see the price of gold go up from the $35 an ounce at which the U.S. government officially pegs it.

A San Antonio, Texas, investment banker, B. F. Pitman Jr., is urging congress to raise the price to $100 an ounce. This would give the Treasury a big windfall in the write up of the dollar value of the Fort Knox metal. He argues that the move would not only put gold miners back to work but would bolster the price of copper, lead and zinc and put these miners back to work, too.

BOOKED FOR HOMICIDE—Dr. Rodrigo L. Sarmiento, 38, is shown after he was booked in New York on homicide charges in the knife slaying of nurse Margaret Kabak, 33. Dr. Sarmiento gave himself up after having eluded a police hunt for four days. Authorities said Miss Kabak had broken off their romance when she discovered that he had a family.

Rocket Scientists Set Goal To Conquer Frontier of Time

When rocket scientists reach the ultimate speed of missiles sent into space, they'll conquer man's last frontier—time.

The "ultimate speed" is that of light, about 186,000 miles per second. Science agrees that anything moving this fast is really standing still, so far as time goes. It's not an impossible speed, either, according to propulsion experts like Dr. Eugen Sanger.

They asked this question of students in University of Southern California marriage classes. No one was surprised when most of the girls said yes.

Two thirds of the men students also said yes.

Another—a freshman, perhaps—said: "Yes, because it makes you look impressive."

"It really makes no difference," said one agreeable fellow, "but I like rings."

Although the women voted yes 103 to 10, one married woman cast her vote for ringless men.

"Rings make men appear henpecked and dominated," she said. "I like my men independent."

A sophomore coed, though single, indicated she is already suspicious.

"Yes," she said, "because men are men and they could just tell anyone that they are not married, even if they are—if they just want to fool around."

There were no names on the ballots. Professors who asked the question were wondering if one girl could be going with a sophomore male. She said:

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Any talk of a new, broad labor law this year looks like plain windjamming. There can be no law unless both houses of Congress act. The Senate may. It's doubtful the House will.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democrats, pressed by Republicans to get the ball rolling, promised Senate action. He wouldn't predict the same for the House. There's no sign the House intends to do anything at all.

Nevertheless, the talk begins today and will last for weeks. The Senate Labor subcommittee begins hearings on a whole hodgepodge of proposals for curbing unions, in some cases curbing employers, and amending the Taft-Hartley Act.

This subcommittee won't have time for a thorough examination of all the proposals thrown at it, because it's supposed to finish its hearings and present a bill to the full Senate for action sometime by mid-June.

The result: probably a mild bill. Once it's called up for debate, amendments can be offered from the floor. So the debate should last for weeks. Then by July 1 or later the Senate probably will approve some kind of measure.

Then it's up to the House to act. But time is an important element here. And time is running out. The members of Congress are anxious to get home by mid-August to campaign for the November elections.

The House can't act until its Labor Committee holds hearings to consider labor legislation. If it really wanted to do a job, it should be starting on its hearings no later than now.

To start them after the Senate finishes—perhaps some time in July—would leave such little time before adjournment that the committee couldn't possibly do a serious or thorough job.

That's why Secretary of Labor Mitchell suggested Sunday House hearings should be getting under way now.

There wasn't any indication the Senate intended to act, either, until recently when Johnson called up a Democratic bill to protect employees' pension and welfare funds.

Then Sen. William F. Knowland of California, Republican Senate leader, tried to tack on a whole mob of amendments that had nothing to do with pension-welfare funds. So did the Eisenhower administration.

Johnson and other Democratic Senate leaders faced the prospect of having no pension-welfare bill at all or having it massacred under a load of amendments that actually covered the whole broad field of labor legislation.

There had been hearings on the pension-welfare bill but none on the proposed amendments. Johnson promised action on a broad labor bill—with hearings—if the pension-welfare measure was spared. It passed intact and the amendments were killed.

Then it was up to Johnson and his Democrats to make good on their promises. Hence, the hearings that start today on all kinds of proposed labor legislation.

But the House hasn't even scheduled hearings yet on the Senate-passed pension-welfare bill. It may do that. And the full House before adjournment may go along with the Senate in approving a law on pension-welfare funds.

But that's about as far as it seems ready to go in 1958. That means everything connected with broad labor legislation has to start all over again next year.

Chemical Engineers Warn: Drain Permanent Antifreeze

DETROIT (AP)—So-called "permanent" antifreeze for auto radiators is permanent for one season only; it is "permanent" only in the sense that it will not boil away or evaporate. It should be drained from the car cooling system each spring.

This is the word of chemical engineers who have spent years trying to develop the most efficient antifreeze substance for car radiators. They tell you that one of every five of America's 60 million cars and trucks has a leaky radiator problem. Most of the trouble, they say comes from failure to drain antifreeze from the cooling system in the spring.

One of the experts is Dr. Chester M. White, who heads the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp.'s antifreeze research laboratory at Rochester, N.Y. Dr. White says that after one winter's use the corrosion inhibitor has a tendency to break down. This tendency, he he says, increases with present higher horsepower engines and higher engine temperatures.

And the problem is not solved merely by adding more inhibitor to the antifreeze, he says. After a winter's use, the chemical structure of the antifreeze is altered by the development of various acids resulting from leakage of exhaust gases into the cooling system, Dr. White says.

You would need to match the proper inhibitor with the glycol remaining in the cooling system at the end of the driving season in order to get proper efficiency through the addition of inhibitors, he explains.

Dr. White says that car radiators generally now are much smaller than they were a few years ago. He reports one 1957 radiator has a volume of 475 cubic inches compared with an older type with 875 inches.

This means that today's antifreeze must do much more work. It is another reason, the experts say, why the motorist should drain and flush out his radiator each spring.

For a lifetime of comfort and happiness, plan and build that New Home NOW! Plan books, materials, advice — all available.

Inmate-Made Uniforms For Guards Condemned

plans for a photonic rocket, a space vehicle propelled by pressure of particles of light. The idea, once just a theory, is coming nearer to fact every day.
Photons are moving particles of light. Like sunlight on a wall, they exert pressure. If this light pressure were strong enough, it could be exhausted through the nozzle of a rocket to push it at fantastic speeds—up to 10 times faster than the multi-stage Army missile that put the first U. S. satellite into orbit.
The power plant for a photonic rocket is not pure theory, either. It would be a nuclear reactor to heat a gas to extremely high temperatures. The high intensity photons produced would be funneled by reflectors through the nozzle of this ultra-speed rocket.
Traveling at the speed of light, time would cease for everything in the space ship. Clocks would move but record nothing. People on board would not age. Food would never spoil. Anything living on the ship would remain the same age, in the same condition, as it was when the space flight began. The trip would be timeless.
Back on Earth, time would take its usual toll of living things. When the occupants of the photonic rocket returned, the Earth would be changed, but they would not after a trip of many years.
Thus, at the speed of light—time would be beaten.

Men Are Vital in Defense

In the future over military missiles, rockets and research sight is sometimes lost of the fact that trained and experienced men are the vital ingredient in any defense establishment. Without men capable of building them, servicing them, and controlling them, the best weapons in the world will not be of much value.

It is encouraging therefore to find the Senate Armed Services (Committee at last putting the stamp of its approval on military pay incentives designed to attract better men into the services and to reward and retain those who develop special skills.

The bill the committee has approved is less than ideal and certain of its provisions are opposed by the Defense Departments. But it is without question a step in the right direction. The services have been losing trained enlisted men and officers at an alarming rate.

It takes years to train men to fly the jet planes and use the highly complex weapons in use today and many of these men leave the services as fast as they acquire the skills to make them useful. This is a frightful waste which no private industry would tolerate.

It would be more economical for the nation to raise pay scales enough to keep more of these men in uniform than to maintain its forces on a sort of revolving door basis.

This bill, if enacted into law, would at least reduce personnel turnover by authorizing extra pay for extra proficiency and by permitting men with special skills to advance more rapidly to higher grades. It would reward those who bear higher responsibilities with larger pay increases and discourage the time-servers who show no outward capabilities.

It's Just Another Death

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—There usually are only two days in a modern office.

One is pay day, when life is wonderful. The other is any day on which you aren't paid, and life seems ordinarily hopeless or hopelessly ordinary, depending on your mood.

But then there comes a third kind of day—the day someone in the office dies. As one grows older, it seems to come more often.

You come to work one morning, and instead of the usual greeting — "What's new?" — there is, for a change, something really new:

"Did you hear so-and-so died last night?"

Who was so-and-so? It makes no difference what his rank was in life, whether he was an executive or a secretive human sero. In death he suddenly stands out larger. For one day he is the most important man in the office.

You may have worked 30 feet from him for 20 years and never even noticed the color of his eyes. All of a sudden, through the pooling of office memories, you learn a lot about him.

Everyone has a memory: "Only last week I heard him say in the washroom he never felt better in his life."

"He's got three kids, but two of them are raised."

"He only had four more payments to go on his house."

"Remember during the last economy drive, when they would not buy a pencil sharpener, he got so mad he went out and bought one himself?"

"He always worried about ulcers, and then just to think it was his heart all the time."

As his associates exchange their memories, you get an insight into what is worrying them — the diseases they fear, the dreams unachieved, the problems at home, the panic thought that life, dull as it often seems, should be taken from them without their permission.

The office, no longer a forlorn cell, is a warm shelter. The daily rut all at once becomes a prized thing no one wants taken from him, certainly not by death. All wish again the solace of the commonplace.

They take up a collection for flowers for the one who has gone, and someone is appointed to write a letter of sympathy from "his friends at the office."

Everyone looks at his desk — somehow it now stands out from the others — and wonders who tomorrow, or the next day, or the day after . . . will be sitting at that desk doing his job.

"Why don't they ever hang crepe on a guy's desk when he dies?" someone asks. But they never do.

He is gone, but the work hasn't. The human herd, lowing, turns its horns toward the future and plods on.

There has just been another death in the office.

Youth Gangs Should Be Broken

By George Sokolsky

So the story goes that a New York City Youth Board operative took Ramon Serra and two companions for a ride. They ate hot dogs and drank soda pop and he induced them to play a game of softball the next day. Then they went to a candy store where, in the presence of the Youth Board worker, Serra murdered Michael Ramos, a gang organizer. The social worker commented:

"I heard a loud noise — a blast. It was so loud that I put my hands up to my ears."

Oh dear! What a sweet and lovely story!

New York city and many other cities are dangerous places for living because for sentimental reasons, the public authorities decline to treat crime as crime and criminals as criminals. Many social workers, dogooders, even newspaper editors who should know better, believe that crime can be put down by coddling criminals.

Actually, what they mean is that as the Negro and Puerto Rican population is enormous and in some areas of New York represents a majority, it is neither sound business nor sound politics to make too much noise about whatever may be offensive to them, even murder.

The Youth Board, in New York City, as similar organizations are elsewhere, is a coddling organization, designed to achieve by sweetness and light what all human experience proves can only be accomplished by punishment.

Even applying the social worker's slogan "The greatest good to the greatest number," the gangs have become intolerable. They not only murder individuals who have a legal and moral right to remain alive, but they produce conditions which close down parks at night, make streets dangerous and cost the city money for additional policing. The youth gangs should be broken up by brute force.

The Youth Board in New York consists of 18 respectable and busy citizens, few of whom have any time to devote to this activity having affairs of their own, and 10 public officials each one of whom has a full time job. So the task, as in all such matters, goes down to the professional social workers who operate the enterprise according to the latest ideas of sociability based on the assumption that hot dogs and soda pop will assuage the murderous beasts who betray our civilization.

The social worker's concept of life is environmental and secular and assumes that gangs can be diverted into sweet groups, playing checkers and handball, by kind words spoken to amoral boys and girls. Serra, for instance, is 20 years old; Ramos, whom he killed in cold blood in the candy store, was 17 years old; Serra's girl friend, who fingered the murder for the police, is 14 years old. Serra possessed an arsenal which cost considerable money because the weapons had to be obtained from illegal places.

These are not babies. Serra is a grown man. But what about his girl friend. What do the newspapers mean when they call a girl of 14 a girl friend? What does the law say about responsibility for the morals of those under age? When a child of 14 is the girl friend of a man of 20, what is the legal and moral definition of the term, girl friend?

What does the Youth Board do about defining such terms and such relationships? What do they do to protect such a child as this 14 year old girl from criminal associations? In this case, there was another girl to whom Serra handed the murder weapon which she threw into an ash can where the police found it. What kind of a girl is this: Was she an accomplice? Was she a member of Serra's gang or of a girl's auxiliary gang?

The gang problem in the big cities is becoming unmanageable because it is not being treated exclusively as crime which it is. The gangs grow in number and size. They involve young people who engage in truancy, in school riots, in narcotics, in gang wars, in murders.

Large cities have always had gangs, but nothing quite as vicious as the gangs of juveniles and youths who pollute our cities and who, usually, are products of improper homes. This is strictly a police problem everywhere and it can be established that the soft intervention of the social workers has only aggravated the situation.

Child Love Will Vary

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

All women do not have the same capacity for motherhood.

You don't automatically acquire the proper maternal instinct simply by becoming a mother. You either have it or you don't have it.

While I realize that the vast majority of you mothers love your children more than life itself, there are some women who just don't have the capacity for such love. They are born with limitations in their maternal drive.

The sooner these women and society come to realize this, the better off these mothers and their children will be.

This was brought to my attention awhile back at a meeting of the American Congress on Maternal Care here in Chicago.

Dr. Phillip Seitz of the Chicago Institute of Psychoanalysis pointed out this lack-of-mother-instinct theory after studying the maternal habits of various animals.

Some animals, he reported, show they reject their offspring by throwing them out of the family home, or by not seeking to recover them once they are taken away. Women, also, he found, have varying abilities to love children.

Women who teach in nursery schools or serve as nurses in hospital nurseries and pediatric wards generally have a surplus capacity for motherhood. So do many social workers, he learned. They may love any number of children.

Yet other women might have the capacity to love one person, but not two.

Usually such women feel guilty about not loving all their children equally and overextend themselves trying to compensate for it. This actually might make them resent the child even more and the child, realizing it, will reject the mother's solicitous attitude.

The first step toward solving the problem, Dr. Seitz recommends, is for society to realize that all mothers are not perfect; that some do not have the capacity to love all their children equally.

The mothers also must recognize their true feelings.

Once a realistic evaluation of their capacity is made, they generally will be able to do a better job with whatever capacity they may have. They can make realistic plans.

For some, this may mean obtaining additional mothering for their children by sending them to nursery schools and the like.

These mothers must not feel inadequate. They are born with limitations in their maternalistic compass and there's not much they can do about it.

Answer: Shingles, or herpes zoster, is due to a virus infection of the skin nerves which produces small blisters over the area affected. Usually, most of these cases do clear up spontaneously. However, pain may last a few weeks or months after the attack.

In a few cases, local nerve blocks may relieve the pain.

New Marshall Plan Urged To Aid Mideast

DURHAM, N. H. (AP)—Sen. Ralph Flanders (R-Vt.) has proposed "a new Marshall Plan" to raise the living standards and win the friendship of the Middle East.

To combat "the decay of our influence in the Arab world," Flanders said, "we must assist the people of this great area to more and better food, clothing, shelter and education."

"This large-scale project for the Middle East will require expenditures comparable to those of the Marshall Plan," Flanders said.

Gubernatorial Candidates All Filled with Confidence

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Candidates for gubernatorial nomination in Tuesday's primary were full of confidence today in special eleven-hour campaign-end statements.

The statements were prepared at the invitation of The Associated Press for brief summations of a rugged campaign. They follow:

Gov. C. William O'Neill, Republican:

"I have been gratified by the crowds and the enthusiasm at our five pre-primary meetings held in five widely separate sections of Ohio. I am confident in submitting our record of accomplishment to the people of Ohio."

Anthony J. Celebrezze, Democrat:

"In my campaign travels, people everywhere have expressed the need for positive leadership to take full advantage of the potential economic growth of the state. During my three terms as mayor of the city of Cleveland, I have seen the potential of these new horizons and the impact they will have on all of our lives. To take full advantage of these potentials for the greatest benefit of all requires proven, positive leadership, which I am confident I can give to the people of Ohio."

Michael V. DiSalle, Democrat:

"After travelling through Ohio's 88 counties and having had the opportunity of discussing with Ohioans on their home ground the problems and issues in which they are interested, I am convinced that the voting public, both in the primary and the general election, will cast their votes only after mature reflection on the quality and ability of the man who is to lead them for four years. There is a deep awareness of the seriousness of the times and the necessity of attempting to anticipate the needs of the future. To me it has been a very rewarding experience and a campaign which has reaffirmed my faith in the Democratic processes."

Robert N. Gorman, Democrat:

"The Democrats of Ohio are determined not to have a repeat performance of the election of 1956. They want a strong, balanced ticket that can win in the fall, and for that reason have turned to me. I am going to win the nomination for several reasons. First, there will be a surprise vote in Hamilton County. Secondly, at all the meetings I have had the largest crowds and received the most enthusiastic responses for stating the issues clearly. We feel the voters will give the pollsters a surprise on Tuesday."

Clingman Jackson, Democrat:

"My campaign took me to about 70 counties. I have mailed literature to all Democratic committeemen and leaders setting forth my philosophy of government and my experience in state government. The decision is in the hands of Democratic voters, but I am confident of the outcome because I fit the prescription for a successful fall campaign and I have no fatal handicap. My campaign will cost less than $5,000 and as a nominee I shall be under special obligations to no man."

Albert S. Porter, Democrat:

"I am now concluding my campaigning for the Democratic nomination for governor. I have carried on a hard, clean and vigorous campaign without mudslinging. I have directed by efforts at the problems affecting the people of Ohio. As I am confident I shall be nominated Tuesday evening I invite all of my primary opponents to join me in fighting the battle which will bring us victory over the Republicans in November. We shall take the governor's office and give it back to the people."

Maynard E. Sensenbrenner, Democrat:

"The Democratic Party has demonstrated in the current gubernatorial campaign that its candidates freely present themselves and their ideas to the voters of Ohio. If the citizens want government that is free from control by any pressure group, if they want clean, honest government and if they want an aggressive, constructive campaign in the fall based on the issues, then I will be nominated Tuesday."

Mrs. Vivienne L. Suarez, Democrat:

"Citizens of Ohio are sufficiently intelligent to know the O'Neill administration has not been a clean one. The aged, also those on welfare, have been neglected. The laborer has been denied what is rightfully his. Filthy and immoral conditions exist in our mental institutions. As a civic leader for many years, I know what it takes to give leadership. It takes the initiative of an individual to get things done and the willingness to make personal sacrifice."

Lincoln's 'Almanac Trial' Held 100 Years Ago Today

BEARDSTOWN, Ill. (AP) — One hundred years ago this week Abraham Lincoln confronted a witness in the Cass County Circuit Court with an almanac. With that and a convincing summation, he won an acquittal for a family friend accused of murder.

Since then the case has become famous as the "almanac trial." Lincoln, running for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate, took time off from his campaign to defend William (Duff) Armstrong May 5 and 6, 1858. He was nominated but lost the election.

Armstrong, the son of Lincoln's long-time friend of the New Salem days, Jack Armstrong, was charged with the murder of James P. Metzger, a farmer who lived near Petersburg.

Metzger and Armstrong had been drinking Aug. 29, 1857, when they engaged in a scuffle during a camp meeting. Afterward Metzger and another youth, James H. Norris, were involved in a fight. Later that night, Metzger was set upon by unknown assailants as he rode home on horseback. He died three days later.

Norris and Armstrong were arrested and charged with Metzger's murder. Norris was tried and found guilty and sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary.

It was then that Hannah Armstrong, Duff's widowed mother, turned to Lincoln. He wrote he would help "to require in a small degree the favors I received at your hand."

The trial was held in Beardstown in the courthouse which still stands. Townspeople are celebrating the centennial of the trial with re-enactments Monday and Tuesday.

A witness named Allen claimed he saw Armstrong strike Metzger on the head with a slung shot—a piece of metal attached to a leather thong.

When Lincoln cross-examined him, Allen said it was about 11 o'clock at night when the attack occurred, but admitted he was about 150 feet from the combatants.

"The moon was very bright, almost like day," he said. "And the full moon was at a point in the sky where the sun is at 10 o'clock in the morning."

As Allen finished his statement, Lincoln drew from his pocket an almanac for the year 1857. He told the jury the moon was barely past first quarter, and had practically disappeared at 11 o'clock.

Lincoln then called upon Dr. Parker who said the bruises causing Metzger's death could very well have been caused by a fall from his horse.

His masterful plea for the "life of the son of his old friend" won the jury.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband is a good man morally, loves his wife and family; and is a good provider, well liked by everyone. But I would like to have your opinion of his behavior in the following matter.

A month ago our daughter Jean, 19, telephoned us from her college town to say that she was in trouble, with a young man, 25, whom she loves very much. Rather, they are in love, and Jean was then three months' pregnant. We have met the young man, and he seems honest and sincere.

After our talking with Ed (I'll call him) they made plans to marry the next weekend. But since then he has been putting off marrying, for one reason and another, for almost a month.

Last evening Jean telephoned to say that they are to be married this weekend for sure; but they have decided to give the child for adoption immediately it is born. Also Ed wants us to wait another month before announcing the marriage—to give him time to inform his parents.

I feel that if my husband had gone in person to this young man, when we learned of the trouble, that things would have been taken care of by now. But he is so afraid of causing hard feelings with his prospective son-in-law that he refuses to take a stand. I have wanted to go to Jean, but my husband thinks it better to let him settle it between themselves.

We are willing to take the child; though I doubt that Jean will be able to part with it—as she even suffered over stray dogs when she was home. I can't believe she has changed so much. Do you think her father has acted wisely? My respect for him has hit a very low ebb.

G.N.

DEAR G.N.: It is possible that your husband knows best in this situation; and is counting on Ed to do the right thing eventually, if given latitude for making his own decision—with no sense of shotgun pressure from Jean's parents.

Perhaps your husband is thinking of the long-term aftermath of the present trouble, whereas you may be urgently concerned only with Jean's saving face, as of now.

If Ed felt that he were being hooded into marriage to Jean, regardless of his own wishes, or unpreparedness to head a family, he might go on strike. He might become obstinate and ugly about the situation and wash his hands of it. He might just walk out on Jean. In which case he might also see fit to justify his quitter behavior, by taking a derogatory attitude about her involvement with him. In short, he might give her the worst of it in the public mind.

Probably your husband is aware of these potentialities of masculine misconduct, in walking on eggs about Ed's intentions.

Also, Jean, at 19, may not be a minor, according to the laws of your jurisdiction. If she has attained to the age of consent, legally speaking, she might be charged with personal responsibility for her predicament, and with predatory designs upon Ed—who might be cast in the light of the innocent quarry, more pursued than pursuing, in the event of a showdown.

To sum up, I agree with your husband that it is better to let Ed and Jean find their own solution, at their own pace, if they seem at all inclined to take that course.

Also it is wise to indicate your belief that Ed is responsibly minded—since an attitude of faith in his character will tend to foster a good reaction from him, if he has elements of worth to build upon.

Bricker Backs TV Aid Bill

Educational Setup Pushed in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio), a frequent foe of federal aid, has come out strongly in favor of a bill that would erase one of the biggest problems of educational television.

The bill, by Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.) would provide up to a million dollars for each state for educational TV for high schools, colleges and adult education.

The Ohio senator told a Senate Commerce Committee:

"I can see the time when we will have a (educational TV) network that will bring the colleges of our state—and we have some 50 or more—and to the high schools . . . programs that will give strength to our whole educational system that nothing else could do."

Ohio, rated a pioneer in educational television, has a station in Cincinnati, which was the second of its kind to go on the air in the country, and another at Ohio State University.

Two more stations, one at Miami University in Oxford and one being tested by the Greater Toledo Education Foundation, are getting ready to broadcast.

Dayton has a movement under way to apply for a construction permit and Ohio University at Athens has applied for a commercial channel to use strictly for education.

Other TV educational channels have been allocated in Akron, Bowling Green and Cleveland but have had no applicants.

The main problem facing new educational stations is the lack of money, Richard B. Hull, director of radio and television broadcasting at Ohio State, said in testimony.

Los Angeles Fans Acclaim Their Dodgers

Repatriated Bums Win Praise After Sweeping Twin Bill from Phils

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Los Angeles baseball fans who only a week ago were chasing the Dodgers back to Brooklyn were embracing their heroes today like native sons.

The repatriated Bums reached new heights in popularity Sunday when they swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia 8-7 and 15-2 to climb a notch into sixth place in the National League pennant race.

The home folks saw second baseman Charlie Neal bash two home runs, a triple and single for four runs batted in. They saw the Dodgers whip Robin Roberts in the first game and then watched them assault six pitchers for 18 hits in the second game, tops for a single game in the league this season.

They saw the Dodger hitters crack eight consecutive hits for seven runs in one inning as left-hander Danny McDevitt coasted to his first victory of the season in the nightcap.

In San Francisco, a crowd of 22,721 saw the Giants rebound with a 4-3 10-inning victory after Pittsburgh had won the opener of their doubleheader 6-2. Despite the split, the Giants dropped into fourth place behind Milwaukee, which defeated St. Louis 7-2. The Chicago Cubs retained their half-game first place lead by dividing a doubleheader with Cincinnati. The Cubs won the opener 5-4 with the Redlegs taking the second game 3-2 in 14 innings.

Baltimore swept a pair from Detroit 4-3 and 4-0 while Cleveland and Boston divided a pair. The Indians won the opener 2-1 and the Red Sox won the second game by the same score in 12 innings.

Four months ago, nobody wanted Jack Harshman. Now nobody can beat him.

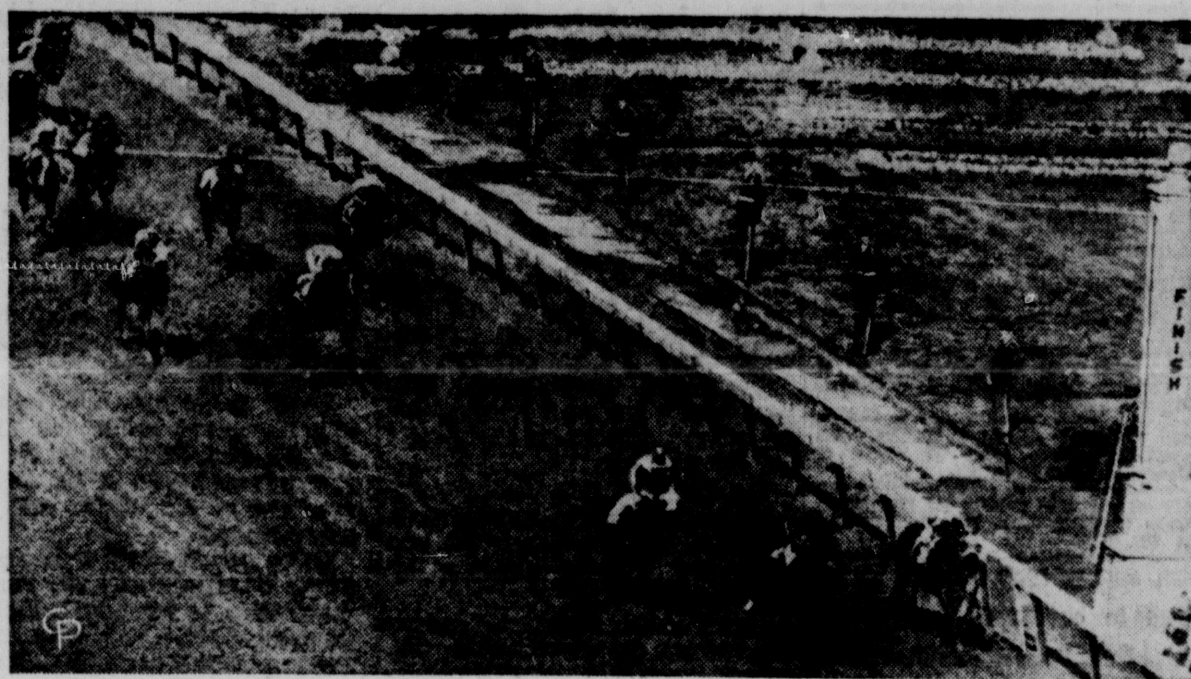

The left-handed pitcher, traded by the Chicago White Sox to Baltimore last December, has been a lifesaver for the Orioles. He hurled a five-hit shutout Sunday as Baltimore swept a doubleheader from Detroit 4-3 and 4-0. Harshman, still unbeaten this season, has won half his team's eight victories. Yet, last January, the Orioles wanted to return him to Chicago when they learned he was suffering from a slipped disc. The baseball commissioner ruled that Baltimore must keep Harshman but should be compensated with an additional player.

The surprising Washington Senators climbed to within a game of the front-running New York Yankees, defeating Kansas City 7-2. The second game was halted by rain after nine innings with the score deadlocked at 2-2.

Cleveland and Boston split, the Indians winning the first game 2-1 and the Red Sox taking the second by the same score in 12 innings. Another preseason trade paid off for Baltimore Manager Paul Richards when outfielder Gene Woodling hit a two-run homer in the first inning of the opener. Eighteen-year-old Milt Pappas won his first game of the season. The young bonus right-hander gave up one run and five hits before retiring with a pulled tendon in his elbow in the seventh. Paul Foytack was the loser.

Fordham and St. John's began their basketball series in the 1906-09 season.

Bob Kelly, Cincinnati pitcher, was credited with five victories for Nashville in games that went extra innings in the Southern Assn. in 1957.

KENTUCKY DERBY WINNER — Tim Tam (center), a Calumet Farm entry with Ismael Valenzuela up, races across the finish line a half length ahead of Lincoln Road (on rail) to win the 84th running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs in Louisville, Ky. The winner's time was a leisurely 2:05 for the mile and a quarter race, and the winner's prize a substantial $116,000. Tim Tam paid $6.20, $3.80 and $3.00. Lincoln Road paid certain delirious backers $26.80 and $11.40. Noureddin who finished third paid $5.60. Silky Sullivan, everybody's favorite, placed 12th in a field of 14.

Gonzales Collects Net Meet Title

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pancho Gonzales, winner of six straight professional tennis tournaments here, has remarkable stamina as well as a big service.

Gonzales proved that Sunday as he outlasted Australian ace Lew Hoad in a three-hour, 62-game marathon to defend his title in the ninth annual professional tournament.

Coming from behind after losing the first two sets, Gonzales defeated Hoad 3-6, 4-6, 14-12, 6-1, 6-4.

Told that he seemed stronger at the finish, Gonzales replied that it was just an optical illusion.

"Hoad slowed down and wasn't getting to the net quite as fast," said Gonzales, who soon will be 30. "That always makes the other fellow look better."

Round Table, third in the 1957 Kentucky Derby, won $600,258 in purses during the year.

Tiger Teams Resume Action

SCO League Play On Week's Slate

Weather permitting, Circleville High School's baseball and track teams resume action this week in league competition.

The baseballers host Washington C. H. at Ted Lewis Park Tuesday and the track team goes to Franklin Heights Wednesday for the annual South Central Ohio league meet.

The diamond men of Coaches Dick Boyd and Dick Fisher own a 9-3 record to date and lead the South Central Ohio loop. The Harriers' only loss in the league was to Wilmington.

Two of the baseball team's defeats were administered by strong Chillicothe. The other loss was at the hands of Columbus Holy Rosary in the district tournament.

FIVE of the Tigers' nine wins have been in league play, giving them first place running without a defeat.

One of the brightest outlooks for Coaches Boyd and Fisher has been the excellent relief pitching of Joe Adkins. The tough right-hander now has hurled 18 1-3 innings of scoreless ball.

Adkins hurled a five inning no-hit game against Athens earlier in the season and sparked in a no-hitter for 5 1-3 innings of relief in the tourney loss to Rosary.

Track Coaches Tom Bennett and John Current have problems mainly due to the back ailment of jackrabbit Junior Denny. The speedy sophomore has missed the last two meets and his absence figured heavily in the winless Tiger efforts.

Denny usually can be counted on to take the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the broad and high jumps. Coach Bennett said that he is hoping the flashy competitor will be ready for the important league meet at Franklin Heights Wednesday.

Los Angeles Fans Acclaim Their Dodgers

Repatriated Bums Win Praise After Sweeping Twin Bill from Phils

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Los Angeles baseball fans who only a week ago were chasing the Dodgers back to Brooklyn were embracing their heroes today like native sons.

The repatriated Bums reached new heights in popularity Sunday when they swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia 8-7 and 15-2 to climb a notch into sixth place in the National League pennant race.

The home folks saw second baseman Charlie Neal bash two home runs, a triple and single for four runs batted in. They saw the Dodgers whip Robin Roberts in the first game and then watched them assault six pitchers for 18 hits in the second game, tops for a single game in the league this season.

They saw the Dodgers give their pitchers spectacular support with seven double plays, which boosted their total to 35 twin killings in 19 games.

They saw the Dodger hitters crack eight consecutive hits for seven runs in one inning as left-hander Danny McDevitt coasted to his first victory of the season in the nightcap.

In San Francisco, a crowd of 22,721 saw the Giants rebound with a 4-3 10-inning victory after Pittsburgh had won the opener of their doubleheader 6-2. Despite the split, the Giants dropped into fourth place behind Milwaukee, which defeated St. Louis 7-2. The Chicago Cubs retained their half-game first place lead by dividing a doubleheader with Cincinnati. The Cubs won the opener 5-4 with the Redlegs taking the second game 3-2 in 14 innings.

Baltimore swept a pair from Detroit 4-3 and 4-0 while Cleveland and Boston divided a pair. The Indians won the opener 2-1 and the Red Sox won the second game by the same score in 12 innings.

Four months ago, nobody wanted Jack Harshman. Now nobody can beat him.

The left-handed pitcher, traded by the Chicago White Sox to Baltimore last December, has been a lifesaver for the Orioles. He hurled a five-hit shutout Sunday as Baltimore swept a doubleheader from Detroit 4-3 and 4-0.

Harshman, still unbeaten this season, has won half his team's eight victories. Yet, last January, the Orioles wanted to return him to Chicago when they learned he was suffering from a slipped disc. The baseball commissioner ruled that Baltimore must keep Harshman but should be compensated with an additional player.

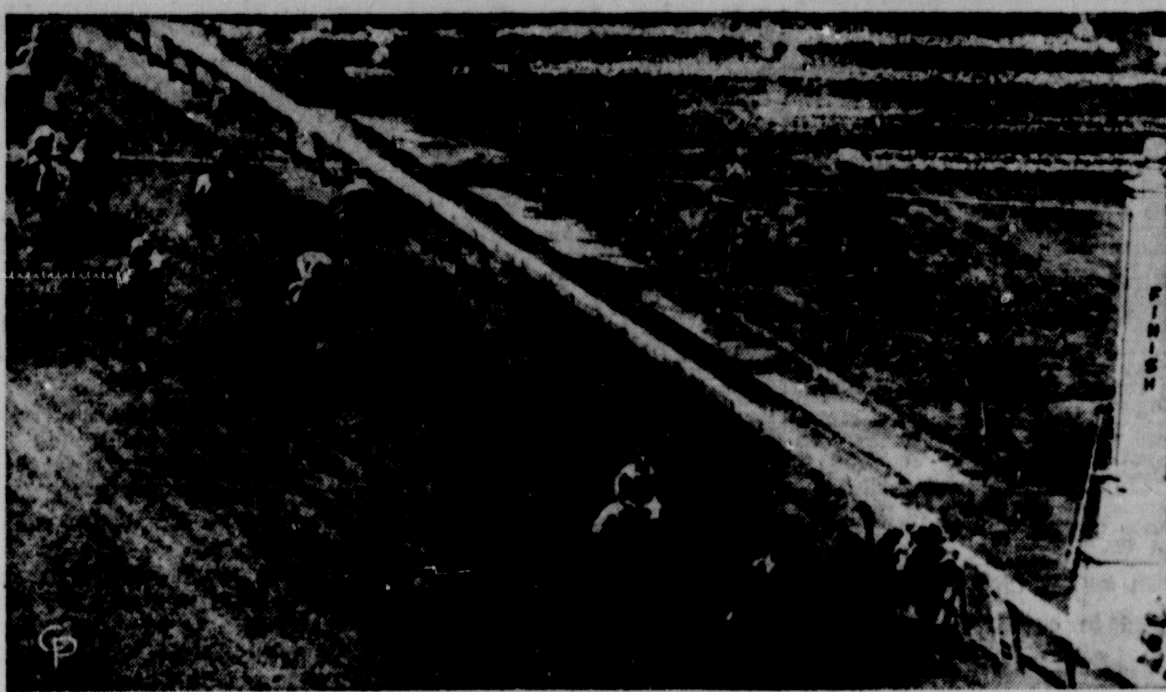

The surprising Washington Senators climbed to within a game of the front-running New York Yankees, defeating Kansas City 7-2. The second game was halted by rain after nine innings with the score deadlocked at 2-2.

Cleveland and Boston split, the Indians winning the first game 2-1 and the Red Sox taking the second by the same score in 12 innings.

Another preseason trade paid off for Baltimore Manager Paul Richards when outfielder Gene Woodling hit a two-run homer in the first inning of the opener. Eighteen-year-old Milt Pappas won his first game of the season. The young bonus right-hander gave up one run and five hits before retiring with a pulled tendon in his elbow in the seventh. Paul Foytack was the loser.

Fordham and St. John's began their basketball series in the 1908-09 season.

Bob Kelly, Cincinnati pitcher, was credited with five victories for Nashville in games that went extra innings in the Southern Assn. in 1957.

KENTUCKY DERBY WINNER — Tim Tam (center), a Calumet Farm entry with Ismael Valenzuela up, races across the finish line a half length ahead of Lincoln Road (on rail) to win the 84th running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs in Louisville, Ky. The winner's time was a leisurely 2:05 for the mile and a quarter race, and the winner's prize a substantial $115,000. Tim Tam paid $6.20, $3.80 and $3.00. Lincoln Road paid certain delirious backers $26.80 and $11.40. Noureddin who finished third paid $5.60. Silky Sullivan, everybody's favorite, placed 12th in a field of 14.

Biggest Surprise of Derby Is Silky Sullivan's Flop

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Tim Tam won the Kentucky Derby. That came as no surprise. But the big question that remained unanswered today was what happened to Silky Sullivan, the most publicized horse in the 84th running of the turf classic.

Tim Tam's victory Saturday in the 14-mile race over a very muddy track gave Mrs. Gene Markey's Calumet Farm its seventh Derby triumph. Lightly regarded Lincoln Road from the Sunny Blue Farm of Chicago was second, half a length back. Dr. Peter Graffagnino's New Orleans-owned Noureddin, also neglected in the betting, trailed by another half length in third place.

Silky Sullivan, who had electrified fans with his come-from-last-place performances, was 12th in the 14-horse field. He trailed Tim Tam by 20 lengths.

"I only know that (Jockey Willie) Shoemaker told me he didn't like the track," said trainer Reggie Cornell. "I knew he wasn't right by the way he ran the first half-mile."

"He wasn't even breathing hard when he finished the race and never overlooked a bite of his food."

Cornell and owners Tom Ross and Phil Klipstein of San Francisco are going to give Silky at least one more chance in the East. He'll start in the Preakness at Baltimore May 17. He's also staked in the $50,000 added Jersey at Garden State May 24 and the $100,000 added Belmont in June.

Other trainers had different ideas why Silky faltered.

"I don't think he'll ever run as well in the East as he has on the West Coast," said Syl Veitch, whose Flamingo finished 13th. "There's a difference in the type of tracks and air. The humidity undoubtedly had an effect on his breathing." A number have said Silky has a slight throat condition but it has been denied by the stable.

Tommy Bolt Wins Colonial Golf Tourney

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A nervous but even-tempered Tommy Bolt—the "new" Bolt—was steady down the stretch even in his first head-to-head battle with the grim, calculating Ben Hogan Sunday.

Thus he won the $25,000 Colonial National Invitation tournament.

Bolt snapped back from a staggering first nine and pocketed $5,000 for his 2-over-par 282 for 72 holes.

Hogan faltered in the stretch this time. He took a double-bogey 6 on the final hole and ended in a tie for fourth with a 73-285.

A 30-foot putt that Bolt sank on the 13th hole was the real telling point. Ken Venturi, San Francisco, had shot a 1-under-par 69 and finished with 283, putting the pressure on Bolt and Hogan. Hogan was just a stroke back of Bolt and had made two straight birdies. So Bolt rammed down that putt and grinned because he figured this was the payoff. He bogeyed No. 16 when he was in a trap but pulled himself back up for pars on the last two holes.

Tommy, once noted for his club throwing but now a changed man indeed, played what he called "conservative golf" over the 7,021-yard Colonial course.

Venturi won $3,000 for second place. Finishing in a tie for third and winning $1,900 each were Ted Kroil, Sarasota, Fla., and Gardner Dickinson, Panama City Beach, Fla., each with 284.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our wife and daughter and sister, Agnes Andrews who passed away May 5, 1952. Loving memories never die, as days roll on and years pass by in our hearts a memory of her life and her love and never will we forget. Sadness still goes before us tears do often flow. But your memory dear, you are near us. You have been a great blessing to us. To be together in the same old way would be the dearest wish of our hearts. Your memory is our greatest treasure. In our hearts, Agnes, you will live forever. For all of us she did her best. May God grant her eternal rest. Sadly missed by Father and Mother Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Frazier and husband Russell Andrews, brothers, Emmett and Robert and Mrs. Ralph Bets.

Narleski Set To Go After Boston's Sox

BOSTON (AP)—Ray Narleski, the Cleveland Indians' strong right-hander, will go after his fourth victory today as the Indians and Boston Red Sox wind up a three-game series. He has lost one.

Bob Smith, a 30-year-old left-hander who has an 0-0 record for the season, will be on the mound for the Red Sox.

The Tribe split a doubleheader with the Sox Sunday, coming from behind to win the opener 2-1 and losing the 12-inning nightcap by the same score.

Joyt Wilhelm, 34-year-old knuckleballer, started for Cleveland in the second game and went 11 innings before being lifted for a pinch hitter. Steve Ridzik, who pitched the 12th frame, took the loss.

The start was the first for Wilhelm in his seven-year major league career and followed a total of 363 relief appearances. His knuckle ball had the Sox moaning during his 11 innings.

Rookie catcher Dick Brown gave a creditable performance in handling the knuckler, letting only two balls get past him. Most catchers find the knuckler, letting only two balls, even in the bullpen.

Gene Stephens opened the second half of the 12th inning of the nightcap by beating out a bunt. Billy Consolo forced Stephens in attempting to sacrifice. Jackie Jensen walked and then Frank Malzone lined a single to left field. Consolo slid across the plate with the winning run well ahead of Minnie Mino's throw.

Governor Race Tops Primary Poll Interest

If Jenkins is renominated and then refiles again after the primary, the Republican county chairman of the 10th district could name his successor. Obviously, Collins' backers hope that he would be the choice.

Another pair of hot races has developed in Franklin County (12th Congressional District) for the nominations to succeed retiring Rep. John M. Vorys, Columbus Republican. Four Republicans and five Democrats are seeking spots on the November ballot.

In the fifth district, where veteran GOP Rep. Cliff Clevenger is retiring, seven Republicans and three Democrats are seeking their parties' nominations.

The Ohio delegation to Congress now is split 17 Republican to six Democratic. With the exception of the fifth, 10th and 12th districts, incumbents are unopposed for nomination.

Only O'Neill and GOP Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert among state officials have primary opposition. Every office in the state house now is held by a Republican.

Herbert, completing his fifth term as lieutenant governor, is opposed by Joseph Centanni, Cleveland chiropractor.

But there is another Democratic field of seven in the race for that party's nomination for lieutenant governor. The field includes Albert T. Ball of Cleveland; John Donahay of Alliance; John J. Gallagher of Cleveland; Roy Hoppell of Columbus; Charles H. Hubbell of Cleveland; John W. Peck of Cincinnati and Frank E. Smith of Portsmouth.

Neither John W. Bricker, Republican, nor Stephen M. Young, Democrat, has primary opposition for the U.S. Senate nominations. Bricker is seeking his third term in the Senate; Young, former congressman, is seeking to unseat Bricker after a 1956 defeat in his bid for the office of attorney general.

Both Republican and Democratic candidates for secretary of state are assured nomination. Republican Ted W. Brown is unopposed for renomination for a fifth term. Salem's Asher W. Sweeney, in his first try for public office, is un-

Michigan Teams Take Lead in Big 10 Baseball Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan and Michigan State, both sweeping doubleheaders Saturday, have taken over first place in the Big Ten baseball race.

Michigan topped Indiana 7-6 in 11 innings and then won 8-1 while Michigan State pounded Ohio State 14-0 and 7-1.

Minnesota whipped Wisconsin, 9-5 and 13-2; Illinois clipped Purdue 5-2 and Northwestern and Iowa split.

The results left Michigan and Michigan State in a first place tie with 4-2 records. Illinois, Purdue and Minnesota followed with 3-2 marks. Indiana and Ohio State dropped to sixth.

opposed for the Democratic nomination.

Republican Roger W. Tracy also is seeking his fifth term as state treasurer without GOP opposition. Former state Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson and John Brown of Lake County are opponents for the Democratic nomination.

William Saxbe, now in his first term as attorney general, is alone in the field for the Republican nomination. Three Democrats seek their party's nomination: Mark McElroy of Cleveland, Marion A. Ross of Columbus and Paul F. Ward of Columbus.

The Supreme Court nominations are strictly "no contest."

Judge James G. Stewart, Republican, is unopposed for renomination for the term beginning Jan. 2.

So is his Democratic opponent for the November election, Merrill D. Brothers of Columbus.

Judge Charles B. Zimmerman, Democratic veteran of 25 years on the state's highest bench, also is unopposed in the primary. So is Willard D. Campbell, Zimmerman's Republican opponent in November. They seek the Supreme Court term beginning Jan. 1.

The voters Tuesday also will nominate candidates for all seats in the Ohio Legislature and elect Republican and Democratic state central committeemen and committeewomen.

Until this year, all state officials except for state auditor served two-year terms. Beginning next January, they will serve four-year terms. The state auditor's office, which has been on a four-year-term basis for years, will revert to a two-year term in 1960 for one term only. Then, beginning with the election in 1962, all state officials will be elected for four-year terms.

Armory Building Slowdown Rapped

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio National Guard officials are protesting a decision by the Eisenhower administration to slow down temporarily on construction of new guard armories.

The go-slow policy has been adopted by the Budget Bureau, an arm of the White House, because of plans to reorganize both the National Guard and the Army Reserve.

In a letter made public today by Rep. Frank T. Bow (R-Ohio), Budget Bureau Director Maurice Stans said:

"It is entirely possible that existing (guard) units may be reorganized or otherwise affected by changes designed to adapt individual components to the revised requirements."

"The Department of Defense is endeavoring to approve for construction at this time only those projects which will be fully utilized under whatever (reorganization) program is developed."

Bow says he strongly disagrees with this policy, particularly in a period of recession.

"Instead of talking about new billion dollar public works programs that cannot get off the ground for six to nine months," he said, "it seems to me we can go ahead with some of these projects for which funds are already appropriated."

"Certainly it should be in line with the President's program to spur the economy by acting promptly on federal projects already scheduled."

the guard to headquarters here. National Guard headquarters said that the list of scheduled new armories still is under review. A woman there said she had not heard of any slowdown on armory construction.

Maj. Gen. Leo Kreber, Ohio adjutant general, also has protested against Stans' decisions.

He has told Bow that, no matter what changes will come from reorganization, Ohio will need a top priority armory at Massillon, Ohio.

The Massillon facility would cost $150,000 in federal funds. But the decision also means a delay in the construction of other guard armories around the country.

In Ohio, the list submitted by last July would mean total federal spending of $1,413,000. The federal government puts up a maximum of three-fourths of the cost.

The priority list for Ohio—by no means all could be built with available funds—is as follows:

Massillon, $150,000; Cleveland, $300,000; Greenville, $165,000; Sandusky, $198,000; Logan, $165,000; Cincinnati, $300,000; Caldwell, $135,000.

An Army Reserve spokesman says he knows of no hold-down on the construction of reserve training centers.

The following Army Reserve facilities have recently been authorized for advertised bids in Ohio (figures approximate):

Governor Race Tops Primary Poll Interest

If Jenkins is renominated and then retires again after the primary, the Republican county chairman of the 10th district could name his successor. Obviously, Collins' backers hope that he would be the choice.

Another pair of hot races has developed in Franklin County (12th Congressional District) for the nominations to succeed retiring Rep. John M. Vorys, Columbus Republican. Four Republicans and five Democrats are seeking spots on the November ballot.

In the fifth district, where veteran GOP Rep. Cliff Clevenger is retiring, seven Republicans and three Democrats are seeking their parties' nominations.

The Ohio delegation to Congress now is split 17 Republican to six Democratic. With the exception of the fifth, 10th and 12th districts, incumbents are unopposed for nomination.

Only O'Neill and GOP Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert among state officials have primary opposition. Every office in the state house now is held by a Republican.

Herbert, completing his fifth term as lieutenant governor, is opposed by Joseph Centanni, Cleveland chiropractor.

But there is another Democratic field of seven in the race for that party's nomination for lieutenant governor. The field includes Albert T. Ball of Cleveland; John Donahay of Alliance; John J. Gallagher of Cleveland; Roy Hoppie of Columbus; Charles H. Hubbell of Cleveland; John W. Peck of Cincinnati; and Frank E. Smith of Portsmouth.

Neither John W. Bricker, Republican, nor Stephen M. Young, Democrat, has primary opposition for the U.S. Senate nominations. Bricker is seeking his third term in the Senate; Young, former congressman, is seeking to unseat Bricker after a 1956 defeat in his bid for the office of attorney general.

Both Republican and Democratic candidates for secretary of state are assured nomination. Republican Ted W. Brown is unopposed for renomination for a fifth term. Salem's Asher W. Sweeney, in his first try for public office, is un-

Michigan Teams Take Lead in Big 10 Baseball Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan and Michigan State, both sweeping doubleheaders Saturday, have taken over first place in the Big Ten baseball race.

Michigan nipped Indiana 7-6 in 11 innings and then won 8-1 while Michigan State bombarded Ohio State 14-0 and 7-1.

Minnesota whipped Wisconsin, 9-5 and 13-2; Illinois clipped Purdue 5-2 and Northwestern and Iowa split.

The results left Michigan and Michigan State in a first place tie with 4-2 records. Illinois, Purdue and Minnesota followed with 3-2 marks. Indiana and Ohio State dropped to sixth.

opposed for the Democratic nomination.

Republican Roger W. Tracy also is seeking his fifth term as state treasurer without GOP opposition. Former state Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson and John Brown of Lake County are opponents for the Democratic nomination.

William Saxbe, now in his first term as attorney general, is alone in the field for the Republican nomination. Three Democrats seek their party's nomination: Mark McElroy of Cleveland, Marion A. Ross of Columbus and Paul F. Ward of Columbus.

The Supreme Court nominations are strictly "no contest."

Judge James G. Stewart, Republican, is unopposed for renomination for the term beginning Jan. 2.

So is his Democratic opponent for the November election, Merrill D. Brothers of Columbus.

Judge Charles B. Zimmerman, Democratic veteran of 25 years on the state's highest bench, also is unopposed in the primary. So is Willard D. Campbell, Zimmerman's Republican opponent in November. They seek the Supreme Court term beginning Jan. 1.

The voters Tuesday also will nominate candidates for all seats in the Ohio Legislature and elect Republican and Democratic state central committeemen and committeewomen.

Until this year, all state officials except for state auditor served two-year terms. Beginning next January, they will serve four-year terms. The state auditor's office, which has been on a four-year-term basis for years, will revert to a two-year term in 1960 for one term only. Then, beginning with the election in 1962, all state officials will be elected for four-year terms.

Armory Building Slowdown Rapped

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio National Guard officials are protesting a decision by the Eisenhower administration to slow down temporarily on construction of new guard armories.

The go-slow policy has been adopted by the Budget Bureau, an arm of the White House, because of plans to reorganize both the National Guard and the Army Reserve.

In a letter made public today by Rep. Frank T. Bow (R-Ohio), Budget Bureau Director Maurice Stans said:

"It is entirely possible that existing (guard) units may be reorganized or otherwise affected by changes designed to adapt individual components to the revised requirements."

"The Department of Defense is endeavoring to approve for construction at this time only those projects which will be fully utilized under whatever (reorganization) program is developed."

Bow says he strongly disagrees with this policy, particularly in a period of recession.

"Instead of talking about new billion dollar public works programs that cannot get off the ground for six to nine months," he said, "it seems to me we can go ahead with some of these projects for which funds are already appropriated."

"Certainly it should be in line with the President's program to spur the economy by acting promptly on federal projects already scheduled."

the guard to headquarters here. National Guard headquarters said that the list of scheduled new armories still is under review. A woman there said she had not heard of any slowdown on armory construction.

Maj. Gen. Leo Kreber, Ohio adjutant general, also has protested against Stans' decisions.

He has told Bow that, no matter what changes will come from reorganization, Ohio will need a top priority armory at Massillon, Ohio.

The Massillon facility would cost $150,000 in federal funds. But the decision also means a delay in the construction of other guard armories around the country.

In Ohio, the list submitted by last July would mean total federal spending of $1,413,000. The federal government puts up a maximum of three-fourths of the cost.

The priority list for Ohio—by no means all could be built with available funds—is as follows:

Massillon, $150,000; Cleveland, $300,000; Greenville, $165,000; Sandusky, $198,000; Logan, $165,000; Cincinnati, $300,000; Caldwell, $135,000.

An Army Reserve spokesman says he knows of no hold-down on the construction of reserve training centers.

The following Army Reserve facilities have recently been authorized for advertised bids in Ohio (figures approximate):

Cadiz, $149,000; Chillicothe, $289,000; Lima, $289,000; Marietta, $149,000.

Boston Bans Rock 'n' Roll Music Show

BOSTON (AP) — Boston today banned rock 'n' roll jam sessions from public auditoriums after 15 persons were injured following one at the Boston Arena.

Mayor John B. Hynes declared that rock 'n' roll musical programs are a disgrace and must be stopped. No licenses will be issued for them in the future, the mayor said.

Numerous flare-ups kept police busy Saturday night and early Sunday after a jam session at the Boston arena.

Manager Paul Brown of the state-operated arena said, "The next rock 'n' roll show at the arena will be presented over my dead body."

Police reported that gangs of teen-agers left the arena after the jam session and attacked, robbed and molested passers-by.

Albert Raggiani, 19, a Navy man from Stoughton, suffered several deep stab wounds on the chest as he left the arena with two girls. Brown said unrest developed when police ordered the dimmed house lights turned on at the arena after fans began dancing in the darkened aisles.

Colombia Poll Is Marred By Terrorists

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Long split into bitter factions, most of Colombia's voters united to elect Alberto Lleras Camargo president Sunday. Terrorist attacks pointed up his most pressing problem.

Thirty-three persons, mostly peasants on their way to the polls, were killed by roving terrorist bands. They killed 25 in an attack on two truckloads of voters near Tolima, in central Colombia, and shot down others at Huila and Cauca, in the west.

Tolima has long been the scene of bandit raids resulting from the bitter civil war that has split Liberals and Conservatives.

The two parties finally united in 1957 to throw out dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla and then agree on Lleras as a unity candidate under a political truce. The 52-year-old Liberal party leader had served as president in 1945-46. He is to be followed in the presidency by a Conservative in 1962.

Jorge Leyva, a Bogota lawyer, challenged the truce and ran against Lleras with the backing of extreme Conservatives. But he admitted his candidacy was only a token stand against former President Laureano Gomez, the Conservative leader who threw most of his party behind Lleras.

The first substantial returns showed Lleras leading by margins running from 30-1 to 50-1.

Britain To Revise Her Defense Setup

LONDON (AP) — Britain's defense setup is due for sharp revision, with the expected appointment of Adm. Earl Mountbatten playing a major part.

An official source says Mountbatten will be the first supreme commander of the air, land and sea defenses. The appointment may not come for several weeks.

Mountbatten, uncle of the Duke of Edinburgh, Prince Philip, is nearing the end of his term as first sea lord.

The defense of the British Isles now rests with a series of separate commands headed by senior air, land and sea officers.

Boy Admits Kidnaping Tot

Mentally Retarded Youth's Case Studied

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The fate of a youth who left little Kathy Hampton tied and naked in a vacant house without food or water for three days rested today with Juvenile Court.

Robert Martin Reich Jr., 15, told police step by step how he gave the pretty blonde tot a ride on his bicycle to the ramshackle house 30 blocks from her home, then tore her dress off and tied her up.

She wriggled free and was found scratched and dirty but otherwise unharmed. She had not been sexually molested.

The polite, slightly built boy told officers he was scared to go back to the house and intended never to tell where Kathy was.

"I had no reason. I just did it," he said.

Reich is only a shade over 5 feet tall and weighs just 90 pounds. Police said he suffered from rheumatic heart disease and missed a lot of school. He attends special classes for mentally retarded children.

THE BOY HAS lived most of his life with his widowed grandmother Mrs. Bessie Dillman, who said: "I can't believe he did it, but if he did, he needs psychiatric attention."

Robert's father, an epileptic, is in a mental institution. His mother has remarried.

Robert went to police the day after Kathy's disappearance with a story that he had given her a bike ride and left her at her home, where he had last seen her talking to a man. He admitted the abduction three hours after the 6-year-old girl was found.

Kathy was back home with her parents and five brothers and sisters a few hours after she was examined at a hospital.

U.S. Coal Use Seen Climbing By 50 Pct.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Julian D. Conover, executive vice president of the American Mining Congress, declared here today that reliable forecasts are for a 50 per cent increase in the consumption of coal in the United States by 1975.

Conover, speaking at the opening of the three-day convention of the mining congress, said that to insure that growth there should be immediate establishment of a "broad program of coal research with government-industry cooperation."

About 2,000 coal mine executives and other key personnel were expected to attend the convention for a review of mining modernization and preparation techniques aimed at quality control.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers Union, who often has been at odds with mine operators over contract terms, was to speak at a luncheon today.

In his speech, Conover said congressional hearings last year "brought out the need of substantially expanded research to develop new and more effective uses for coal, to improve and expand uses and to reduce the cost of coal production and distribution."

He said legislation for such a program now is pending in Congress and that it would be "highly beneficial to the coal mining industry, to consumers of coal, to coal mining workers, to distressed coal mining communities and to the general public."

Conover added, "It would be in the national interest for the federal government to undertake the financing and management of such a program without delay."

Boston Bans Rock 'n' Roll Music Show

BOSTON — Boston today banned rock 'n' roll jam sessions from public auditoriums after 15 persons were injured following one at the Boston Arena.

Mayor John B. Hynes declared that rock 'n' roll musical programs are a disgrace and must be stopped. No licenses will be issued for them in the future, the mayor said.

Numerous flare-ups kept police busy Saturday night and early Sunday after a jam session at the Boston arena.

Manager Paul Brown of the state-operated arena said, "The next rock 'n' roll show at the arena will be presented over my dead body."

Police reported that gangs of teen-agers left the arena after the jam session and attacked, robbed and molested passers-by.

Albert Raggiani, 19, a Navy man from Stoughton, suffered several deep stab wounds on the chest as he left the arena with two girls.

Brown said unrest developed when police ordered the dimmed house lights turned on at the arena after fans began dancing in the darkened aisles.

Colombia Poll Is Marred By Terrorists

BOGOTA, Colombia — Long split into bitter factions, most of Colombia's voters united to elect Alberto Lleras Camargo president Sunday. Terrorist attacks pointed up his most pressing problem.

Thirty-three persons, mostly peasants on their way to the polls, were killed by roving terrorist bands. They killed 25 in an attack on two truckloads of voters near Tolima, in central Colombia, and shot down others at Huila and Cauca, in the west.

Tolima has long been the scene of bandit raids resulting from the bitter civil war that has split Liberals and Conservatives.

The two parties finally united in 1957 to throw out dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla and then agree on Lleras as a unity candidate under a political truce. The 52-year-old Liberal party leader had served as president in 1945-46. He is to be followed in the presidency by a Conservative in 1962.

Jorge Leyva, a Bogota lawyer, challenged the truce and ran against Lleras with the backing of extreme Conservatives. But he admitted his candidacy was only a token stand against former President Laureano Gomez, the Conservative leader who threw most of his party behind Lleras.

The first substantial returns showed Lleras leading by margins running from 30-1 to 50-1.

Britain To Revise Her Defense Setup

LONDON — Britain's defense setup is due for sharp revision, with the expected appointment of Adm. Earl Mountbatten playing a major part.

An official source says Mountbatten will be the first supreme commander of the air, land and sea defenses. The appointment may not come for several weeks.

Mountbatten, uncle of the Duke of Edinburgh, Prince Philip, is nearing the end of his term as first sea lord.

The defense of the British Isles now rests with a series of separate commands headed by senior air, land and sea officers.

Boy Admits Kidnaping Tot

Mentally Retarded Youth's Case Studied

ST. LOUIS — The fate of a youth who left little Kathy Hampton tied and naked in a vacant house without food or water for three days rested today with Juvenile Court.

Robert Martin Reich Jr., 15, told police step by step how he gave the pretty blonde tot a ride on his bicycle to the ramshackle house 30 blocks from her home, then tore her dress off and tied her up.

She wriggled free and was found scratched and dirty but otherwise unharmed. She had not been sexually molested.

The polite, slightly built boy told officers he was scared to go back to the house and intended never to tell where Kathy was.

"I had no reason. I just did it," he said.

Reich is only a shade over 5 feet tall and weighs just 90 pounds. Police said he suffered from rheumatic heart disease and missed a lot of school. He attends special classes for mentally retarded children.

THE BOY HAS lived most of his life with his widowed grandmother Mrs. Bessie Dillman, who said: "I can't believe he did it, but if he did, he needs psychiatric attention."
